WILL BE READY
DECEMBER 1st 1859.

REVISED
STATUTES OF KENTUCKY.
New Edition.
BY HON. R. H. STANTON.

THIS valuable work, prepared with great accuracy and labor, by the Hon. R. H. STANTON, of Louisville, Ky., contains the Revised Statutes of Kentucky, as originally adopted in 1792-1793, with all the amendments thereto, and general laws of the State enacted since and up to the present time, thus embodying the whole Statutory System now in force in the State. In addition to the very great convenience of the Statutes, the work contains a full and complete system of the construction of such provisions as may heretofore have been of doubtful or uncertain meaning. Those engaged in the study of the law, or in the administration of the courts, will find it of great value to all classes of persons.
The work is published in a new and elegant style, upon the best paper, and bound in superior law binding.

ORGANIZATION OF THE TWO BRANCHES OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.—The House met at 12 o'clock, M., yesterday, and after the members were sworn in, the following nominations, previously agreed upon in the respective caucuses of the two parties, were made, viz:

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS.

For Speaker—HON. DAVID MERIWETHER, of Jefferson.

For Clerk—CLINT. MCCLARTY, of Daviess.

For Assistant Clerk—COL. ROBERT S. FORDE, of Hardin.

For Sergeant at Arms—W. N. ROBE, of Fayette.

For Door-keeper—ANDERSON GRAY, of Grayson.

OPPOSITION NOMINATIONS.

For Speaker—THOMAS H. CLAY, of Fayette.

For Clerk—THEODORE KOHLHAAS, of Clarke.

For Assistant Clerk—CHARLES E. NOURSE, of Nelson.

For Sergeant at Arms—JOHN M. TODD, of Frankfort.

For Door-keeper—JOHN M. GAYLE, of Frankfort.

The Democratic nominees were all elected upon the first ballot by a party vote. The Speaker, Hon. David Meriwether, is well known as a gentleman eminently qualified for the position he is called upon to fill. He has had years of legislative experience, and has filled many of the most honorable positions under the Federal and State Governments. He has been time and again a member of our State Legislature, was a member of the Constitutional Convention of 1849, Secretary of State under Gov. Powell's administration, United States Senator in 1852, and Governor of New Mexico during President Pierce's administration.

Clinton McClarty was Clerk of the House at its last session, and adds experience to his other qualifications.

Col. Forde was a clerk in the Treasury Department at Washington during the Pierce administration, and has had good training to qualify him as Assistant Clerk of the House.

Mr. Robb held the office of Sergeant at Arms at the last session, and gave general satisfaction.

Mr. Gery ought to know all about the duties of his post. For three successive terms, 1853, 1855, and 1857, he represented his county upon the floor of the House, with credit to himself and his constituency, and there can be no question as to his making a faithful officer in the same body.

The Senate met and organized at the same hour with the House. The proceedings of that body regularly made out will be found in another column. The Democratic nominees have all been elected by a full party vote, as follows:

Speaker pro tem—HON. THOMAS P. PORTER, of Woodford.

Clerk—BEN. SELBY, of Oldham.

Asst. Clerk—J. H. JOHNSON, of Fayette.

Sergeant-at-Arms—MORGAN B. CHINN, of Frankfort.

Door-keeper—THOMAS PEARCE, of Henry.

This is the first time in a number of years that the Democracy have had the control of the Senate, and as a matter of course, the newly elected officers are mostly untried men, but we believe they will in the end prove themselves fully competent and give general satisfaction in the discharge of their respective duties. The distinguished gentleman who has been elected to preside over the deliberations of the Senate in the absence of the Lieutenant Governor has had considerable legislative experience having served in both branches of the General Assembly. He is the only Democrat who ever represented this District in the Senate, and his election in 1857 over Hon. A. K. Marshall will be remembered as one of the most brilliant and extraordinary victories that has marked the onward progress of Democracy in this State since the advent of Know Nothingism. With such talents, experience, and luck as he possesses, we think it an impossibility that he should fail to make one of the best presiding officers that the Senate of Kentucky has ever had, or at any rate the most popular one. As one of his constituents we congratulate him upon his promotion.

We were present at the caucus held by the Democratic members of the House of Representatives yesterday morning. The vote upon the first ballot for Speaker stood: For White, 25; for Meriwether, 21; for McElroy, 12. Upon the second ballot Meriwether received 31 votes and White 27 votes, Mr. McElroy, under the rule, having been dropped. The nomination of Mr. Meriwether was then declared unanimous.

Of Mr. Meriwether we have spoken elsewhere. Dr. White, as is well known, was Speaker of the last House. He is a gentleman of great personal popularity, of fine attainments, and if elected, would have made an admirable Speaker. It will be remembered that in the canvass succeeding the last session, he was greatly abused, in common with other Democratic officials, by the Know-Nothing press and orators throughout the State; but his course was endorsed by the overwhelming majority which the Democratic State ticket received in that canvass, and more recently by being returned to the Legislature by the voters of his own county. Although he failed to obtain the nomination for Speaker at this session, yet the large and flattering vote he received shows the high esteem in which he is held by his Democratic friends, and is a further rebuke to the Opposition party who assailed him so mercilessly in the canvass of 1858.

Mr. McElroy is an old and experienced legislator, a lawyer by profession, a man of talents, and well qualified to preside over a deliberative body. His name had not been long used in connection with the office. The Democracy were fortunate in having so many of their number competent to fill the station worthily. There were others besides those we have mentioned who would have made excellent Speakers. We are gratified that the proceedings went off harmoniously, and that everything augurs well for the future.

We were not present at the caucus held by the Democratic members of the Senate; but we learn that everything was conducted with the utmost harmony. There was a fine array of names before the body for Speaker pro tem. Mr. Porter, as we have elsewhere stated, received the nomination. Messrs. Grundy, Cissell, and Glenn each received flattering votes, and any one of them would have adorned the chair of the Senate. On the last ballot the contest was between Messrs. Porter and Grundy.

COMMISSIONER.—A. Frank Brown, of Bourbon, and Lige Arnold, of Owen, have been appointed Aids to the Governor with the rank of Colonel.

By a private letter we learn that Dudley Walker, Esq., Senator from Ohio and Muhlenburg, is detained by business, and will not reach the city before about the 10th.

We learn by private letter from Covington that Senator Fisk is still confined to his room by indisposition, and will not probably be able to take his seat in the Senate before some time next week.

ARRIVED.—Senator C. J. Walton, who was absent at the opening of the Senate yesterday morning, arrived in the city last night, and will take his seat this morning.

The Legislature of Georgia has passed a law disallowing capital executions in public; also a law to punish with death a white person who shall induce a slave to commit an act for which the slave would suffer death.

The term of Gov. Wise expires the first Monday in January. He has disposed of his estate in Accomac; and will locate himself permanently near Richmond. Hon. Jno. Letcher will enter upon his duties, as Governor of Virginia, at that time.

THE NEXT CONGRESS.—There are nine members of the next Congress whose seats are contested. Of 237 members elected, 115 were members of the last Congress. The member who has been consecutively elected for the longest period of any one in Congress is W. E. Cobb, of Alabama. There is only one Smith in Congress; four Davises; three Washburns, all brothers, and quite a number of instances of the same name being held by two different members.

Our readers are referred to the law card of John E. Hamilton, which will be found in another column. Mr. H. is an industrious, energetic young gentleman of fine legal attainments, and those who entrust business to his hands may rely upon having it promptly attended to.

STANTON'S REVISED STATUTES.—We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Sam C. Bull, who is agent for the above valuable work, and who also has for sale a large assortment of law and miscellaneous books.

The members of the Senate and House of Representatives are requested to call at the Agricultural Rooms, over the Governor's office, and get copies of the first volume of the State Agricultural Report.

FINE LIQUORS.—We call the attention of strangers and others, to the advertisements of Gray & Todd in another column. They have for sale a superior lot of liquors of all kinds; among which is some six year old whisky, which we have heard universally praised by all who have tried it. They have a large lot of this whisky on hand, and will furnish it to those in want of the article at low prices. They also keep for sale a lot of superior cigars, tobacco, and fine groceries and confectioneries of all kinds.

Democratic meeting in Rockcastle.

At a Democratic meeting held at the court-house in the town of Mt. Vernon, on the 28th Nov., 1859.

On motion William W. Smith was called to the Chair, and James Eastham, Esq., appointed Secretary; after which the following resolutions were read and adopted:

Resolved, That although we are weak in numbers in the small county of Rockcastle we are strong in the Democratic faith, and will be able to preserve the principles of Democracy, and will be able in spite of all Opposition and other political factions combined, to maintain the constitution of the United States and preserve the Union.

Resolved, That the Democratic party is the only true national party that has the power or will in view of their principles to preserve the Union.

Resolved, That the combination of the odds and ends of all other political parties, factions, and fanaticisms into the form of an Opposition party, having no other end in view but to put down the Democratic party, and thereby destroy and trample the constitution under foot, and sever the Union, should be looked upon by all Union-loving men with contempt and disdain, and pointed at with the finger of scorn.

Resolved, That the constitution and Union of the States must and shall be preserved.

Resolved, That when the Territorial Legislatures fail to protect the right of property in the Territories, and pass laws that will result in the loss of a bona fide inhabitant of any Territory to hold as private property that which is regarded and held as such by the laws of the State from which such property was transported, it is the duty of Congress by legislation, or otherwise, to protect such rights, or annul such laws.

Resolved, That the Congress of the United States nor the Territorial Legislatures have the power to say by legislation what shall, or what shall not be held as private property by a bona fide inhabitant of any of the Territories belonging to this Union, and that which is regarded and held as private property by the laws of any State, a citizen migrating from such State to any Territory with his property, has a right to hold the same independent of any Territorial laws under the Constitution.

Resolved, That no new State should be admitted into the Union until it has a population sufficient to entitle it to one Representative in Congress, and shall apply for admittance with a constitution, and request the Republican form of government not tolerating Mormonism.

Resolved, That the Mormons are a sect of disunionists, bound and leagued together for disunion and licentious purposes, and to rob and plunder for a support.

Resolved, That we approve of the principles settled by the Supreme Court of the United States in the Dred Scott case, and that we approve and reaffirm the political doctrines as promulgated in the Cincinnati platform of 1856.

Resolved, That the Hon. James Guthrie is our first choice for the next President of the United States, and we hereby recommend him to the favorable consideration of the Charleston Convention, and request the delegates from Kentucky to use their influence for him in the Charleston Convention.

Resolved, That the Hon. J. C. Breckinridge is our first choice for United States Senator; and as the election takes place to fill that office by the members of the next Legislature of Ky., our Representatives and Senators, and that we request to vote for him and use their influence for him.

Resolved, That Judge Samuel Link and Col. C. A. Hoskins are our choice for delegates to the Charleston Convention.

Resolved, That the following be appointed as delegates to the Frankfort Convention, to be held on the 9th of January, next, to-wit: R. H. Hanner, Wm. W. Smith, James Eastham, Esq., J. Newcum, Esq., A. Smith, John H. Colyer, John French, B. Chestnut, Ben. R. P. Langford, Isaac Whitehead, John Reynolds, M. P. Newcum, and Dr. W. A. Brown.

Resolved, That the Frankfort Yeoman and Mountain Democrat be, and they are hereby, requested to publish the proceedings of this meeting.

At this meeting adjourned.

WM. W. SMITH, Chairman.

JAMES EASTHAM, Secretary.

Democratic Meeting in Knox.

At a meeting of the Democracy of Knox county, held in Bardonia on Monday, the 28th day of November, 1859, on motion of John Disman, F. P. Stickley was called to the chair, and John W. Culton was appointed Secretary.

The Chairman explained the object of the meeting, and upon motion, the Chairman appointed John Disman, Judge Parks, D. Bolton, Jas. Barton, Esq., John J. Jones, Edward F. Ayer, Drury Tye, and David Disman as a committee to draft and report such resolutions as might be expressive of the sense of the meeting, who, after a short absence, reported the following resolutions.

Resolved, That we indorse the administration of James Buchanan as eminently wise, patriotic, and conservative.

Resolved, That we are in favor of the re-adoption of the Cincinnati platform by the Charleston Convention, with such other measures as the new issues may require.

Resolved, That we indorse the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the Dred Scott case, and request exposition of the Constitution of the United States, doing justice to all and injury to none.

Resolved, That we have unbounded confidence in the integrity, patriotism, and conservatism of the Democratic party, and are willing to support the nominee of the Charleston Convention, whether from the North or South, and that we request the delegates to the Charleston Convention to nominate such a man for President as will eminently conduce to the perpetuity of the government.

Resolved, That the warmest feelings of the South are due the New York Democracy for the gallant fight they made in the late election against negro fanaticism.

Resolved, That we fully indorse and approve the course pursued by Gov. Wise, of Virginia, and President Buchanan for the prompt manner in which they have disposed of the Harper's Ferry rebellion and insurrection.

Resolved, That all the Democrats of Knox, and those who are willing to act with the Democracy in defeating the fanatical purposes of the Black Republican party, be, and are appointed delegates to the Frankfort Convention, to be held on the 9th of January next.

Resolved, That the Kentucky Yeoman, Lexington Statesman, Mountain Democrat, and all other Democratic papers be, and they are requested to publish the proceedings of this meeting.

After the unanimous adoption of the above resolutions, upon motion, the meeting adjourned sine die.

F. P. STICKLEY, Chairman.

JOHN W. CULTON, Secretary.

Democratic Meeting in Mercer.

At a meeting of the Democrats of Mercer county, held pursuant to public notice, at the court-house, in the town of Harrodsburg, on Monday, the 7th of November, 1859.

On motion of C. C. Smalley, Esq., Jos. B. Renfro was elected Chairman, and Ben. C. Allen and Wm. E. Cleland were appointed Secretaries.

The Chairman, in a few remarks, explained the object of the meeting, and returned thanks for the honor conferred upon him in calling him to preside over the same.

On motion, the Chair appointed Wm. A. Hovey, Esq., John Sallee, Dr. S. Abell, and Robert Alexander, a committee to prepare resolutions, who retired, and soon after reported the following, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we reaffirm the platform of principles which were adopted by the Democratic National Convention, held at Cincinnati, in June, 1856, as containing the true principles of the Democratic party upon all the subjects to which that platform relates.

Resolved, That we cordially indorse and approve of the doctrines stated and maintained by the Supreme Court of the United States in the decision in the Dred Scott case, and that the efforts of Abolitionists to weaken the force of that opinion, and to destroy the objects and ends of justice which it secures, are unwise, unjust, and revolutionary, and should meet with the condemnation of every patriotic citizen of our country.

Resolved, That we regard the perpetuity of the Democratic party as necessary to the preservation of the Constitution and the permanence of our glorious Union; therefore, it would be a cause of gratulation to see Democrats cease differences of sentiment upon non-essential issues, and, by harmony and the cultivation of good feeling, have a union of their forces preparatory to the great political contest of 1860.

Resolved, That we approve the action of the Democratic State Committee in calling a Convention, to be held at Frankfort, on the 9th of January next.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be signed by the Chairman and Secretaries.

J. B. RENFRO, Chairman.
BEN. C. ALLEN, Wm. E. CLELAND, Secretaries.

[Special Dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette.] Execution of John Brown—His Last Hours.

CHARLESTOWN, Va., Dec. 2, 1859.

LAST INTERVIEW OF MR. AND MRS. BROWN.

The following is a succinct and truthful account of the concluding interview between Mr. and Mrs. Brown, from Harper's Ferry, under command of Capt. Moore, of the Richmond Montgomery Guards. The carriage which conveyed her was stopped at the outskirts of the town.

On arriving at the jail, which was closely guarded, the carriage stopped, and Capt. Moore, who rode with Mrs. Brown, jumped from the vehicle, and tendering her his arm, escorted her into the jail.

Capt. Brown was informed of his wife's arrival, and requested that she might be allowed to enter his room as soon as possible. In a few minutes the jailer conducted her into his presence. The meeting was affecting, and at first neither party spoke.

Brown embraced her, pressed her to his bosom, and exclaimed, "My wife!" No tears were shed, but a deep drawn sigh told too well of the intensity of the feeling which each was undergoing.

A few moments thus spent, the Captain drew a chair, and Mr. Brown sat down. He then spoke to her of his condition, told her he was contented, and if it was not for parting with her and others whom he loved, he would have no regret in dying. Mrs. Brown entered fully into the feelings of her husband, and both were resigned to the fate which awaited him.

Capt. Brown referred to the disposition of his property and the welfare of his children, and after spending an hour in conversation, supper was brought in by the kind jailer, and the husband and wife sat down together to partake of their last meal.

The Captain raised his hands, and asked God to bless the meal, and then with a cheerfulness which has no parallel, they commenced their repast. From the time Mrs. B. arrived old Capt. B.'s spirits rose and he exhibited light-heartedness, which surprised those who were around him. Mrs. Brown remained with her husband until half-past six o'clock, when she was informed that the interview must end. The Captain desired that his wife might remain with him during the night, but the orders from headquarters were to the contrary, and accordingly they separated. While the parting scene was one which showed much intensity of feeling, there was no exhibition of passion, and after an embrace, and kiss, and kind admonition from Mrs. Brown, they parted forever.

Mrs. Brown was conducted to her carriage, and under a similar escort, with Capt. Moore, who was kind and gentlemanly in his deportment, the carriage started for the Ferry.

The substance of Brown's interview with his wife was relative to a settlement of his monetary affairs and the disposition of his body. Previous to her arrival he had desired that his body should be burned, and the ashes thereof urned, and in that condition be sent to his sons who were killed at Harper's Ferry should be disinterred, and after undergoing a similar process, be placed in the same urn with his own, and taken North.

This would have been impossible, as the physicians of Winchester had secured their bodies and dissected them.

Capt. Brown had given an order to the effect that if any person called for the body of Brown, who was entitled to it, that the sheriff should hand the same over, and Mrs. Brown was assured by the authorities that the body would be sent to her address at Harper's Ferry.

Brown spent some two or three hours last night, writing and reading, and then retired to rest. He slept soundly, and rose about six o'clock, cheerful and apparently unconcerned about the fate that awaited him.

About half past seven o'clock, after partaking of his breakfast, jailer Capt. Avis, who had been very kind to Brown, and who had endeavored himself thereby, informed him that he could visit Cooke, Coppie, and the other prisoners, if he desired. Accordingly, he was conducted to the room of Cooke first.

INTERVIEW BETWEEN BROWN AND HIS FELLOW PRISONERS.

On entering, a kindly recognition took place, when Capt. Brown said, addressing Cooke: "I am sorry you have not confined yourself to truth in your statement about my confession. I never sent you to Harper's Ferry as a spy, and your statement to that effect is false."

Cooke—"You certainly did."

Capt. Brown (in a commanding tone)—"I did not, sir; you have, by your course, held yourself up as an object of contempt, and deservedly so."

At this remark, Cooke's head fell, and he made no reply. Brown was next conducted to Stevens' room. The meeting between them was cordial. Brown remarked that he was about to die; Stevens said, "I feel assured that you will go to a better world than this." Capt. Brown said, "Conduct yourself like a man. I know you will do so without my advising." They again shook hands and parted. He then repaired to the room of Coppie, where a conversation almost similar took place. Thence he went to the rooms of the negroes, whom he said he expected to die like whites, and as became their condition and position.

The negroes gave him the assurance that they would die fearlessly, as they were fully assured that their action was just and proper. Brown then returned to his room and continued writing for some time.

As the hour approached for his execution, medical faculty in attendance, the sheriff of the county and the officers of the jail, visited his room and conversed with him. Brown was cheerful and talked as though the hour which was appointed for his death was indifferent, and far in the future. Nothing of any material interest occurred in these interviews.

At nine o'clock, agreeably to the general order, two military companies commenced assuming their positions. One company was stationed in front of the jail; another directly opposite the market house, and yet another in front of the court house, which was only a few yards to the north of the prison. Two pieces of brass cannon were placed near the jail wall, on the road leading to the scaffold.

The place of execution was not more than half a mile from the jail. It was erected on an eminence, in the center of a twenty acre field. The grounds were laid off, and small white flags were stuck in the ground, beyond which no citizen was allowed to pass.

At the gate a military company was stationed, who refused to admit any person unless accompanied by a military escort. The representatives of the press, after much trouble, were escorted into the field, and assigned a position within one hundred yards of the scaffold.

At this time the military had assumed their positions on the field, and in the way to the field of execution. The cavalry were seen scouting in every direction, while mounted men were stationed all along the fences of the field of execution, and could be seen riding to the south and east, apparently anxiously looking for the anticipated rescue.

The Richmond Company F. were assigned a position to the south of the scaffold, and within fifty yards of it, while the Cadets from the Virginia Military Institute were stationed in front, and within about the same distance. A company of cavalry were riding around the field, and two or three companies of infantry were stationed within twenty yards of the fences and pickets.

Field officers, staff officers, and officers of the day, and officers not of the day, together with Aids to the Governor, were dashing along on spirited horses, riding to and fro, apparently giving exhibitions of excellent horsemanship, and rivaling each other in this accomplishment.

Thus matters stood at half past 10 o'clock, when Gen. Taliaferro, with his staff, consisting of thirty-seven men, in various uniforms, and all mounted on spirited chargers, entered the field, and proceeded with all military decorum to a position in front of the gallows, and in rear of the Cadets from the Military Institute.

The departure of the commanding officer from the town was the signal for the bringing out of the prisoner. A furniture wagon was driven in front of the jail, and the military formed around it. Brown was then escorted from his room.

He was dressed in a black suit much worn, the same he had on when he made the attack on the Federal stockade. His arms had been pinioned, and he marched out with a firm step and upright head.

He was assisted into the wagon, and took a seat on his coffin.

The train then proceeded to the scene of execution. The military escort was large and imposing. There was no music, and nothing was to be heard save the slow-measured tread of the military, and the creaking of the wheels of the wagon which was conveying Brown to his death.

Following the military were about two hundred citizens. The gate was entered, and the command brought to a halt. In a few minutes it again started, and proceeded to the gallows. The wagon was stopped a few yards from the steps leading to the platform, and Brown was assisted out, and immediately started for the scaffold. On one side was the sheriff, on the other one of his deputies.

Brown ascended the steps with a cheerful look, a firm, unshaken step, and an unblanched eye. Not an exhibition of fear was given. There was no evidence of a consciousness of the terrible tragic scene which was about to take place, and in which he was to be the actor. As soon as he reached the platform the military which accompanied him filed to the right and left, and took the positions which had been previously assigned them. Brown looked at the crowd, then glanced at the scaffold. The deputy sheriff extended his hand and took that of Brown, and shaking it, bade him farewell.

No ministers were present, owing to the fact that Brown had refused their offices. The Sheriff approached him; shook his hand, and bade him good-bye. Brown stepped forward, when the Deputy-Sheriff tied his legs, while the Sheriff drew the white cap over his head, and pinned the fatal rope about his neck. As soon as this was done, Brown remarked to the Sheriff, "you will have to guide me from this out." The Sheriff asked, "Captain Brown, have you anything to say?" To which he replied, "Nothing."

Sheriff—"Will you take a handkerchief, and use it as a signal, letting it fall when you are ready?"

Capt. Brown—"No, sir, I am always ready. Do not keep me unnecessarily long."

The sheriff then stepped aside while the doomed man engaged in prayer. In a few minutes he stepped softly from the scaffold, and on leaving it the Deputy Sheriff sprung the trap, and John Brown was suspended between the heavens and the earth.

Not a sound was heard except the creaking of the timbers of the scaffold and the whispering sound of the wind, as it played with the naked branches of the trees.

After he had hung for twenty minutes, Drs. Girard, D. E. Mason, John A. Straith, John Starry and H. P. Cooke, ascended the platform, and after feeling his pulse, holding their ears to his chest, pronounced him dead. Ten physicians, attached to the different military corps, then visited him, each one of them felt his pulse, and pronounced him dead. Thus ended this tragic scene, which commenced in violence and murder, and closed in shame and death.

On the road to the scaffold, Brown remarked to the undertaker, who was in the wagon with him, on observing the military in the field: "They have excluded all citizens." "Yes, sir," was the reply. Capt. Brown said: "Gentlemen, you are very calm and collected—much more so than I am; yet your condition is much more so."

"I am cool," said he, "I have suffered much more from modesty in my life than time I have from fear. For thirty years I have been educated to look upon fear as a myth, and now I do not know what it is." After riding some distance further, and being beyond the limits of the town, he said, addressing the same gentleman: "What a beautiful country you have! I have no idea of its beauties and the excellence of its soil. This is the first time I have had the pleasure of seeing it." No other conversation took place and he quietly proceeded to his death.

After the body of Brown had hung for thirty minutes, it was cut down and placed in the coffin. The rope with which he was hung was taken in charge by an officer, and afterwards cut up into pieces and distributed to those who were anxious to have it. Parties cut the timber of the gallows, and carried away the pieces, while others secured a lock of his hair. When the body was placed in the coffin it was conveyed to town and placed in the jail. Many persons desired to visit the jail for the purpose of seeing it, but their curiosity was not gratified. A special train of cars was ordered from the Ferry, and at half past six o'clock, under a strong military escort, the coffin was removed from jail and taken to the cars, where it was placed in a special one, and an escort getting in, the train proceeded to the Ferry, where it arrived at half past seven o'clock.

Not more than two hundred citizens witnessed the execution. Many more would have been present, but the officer of the day, in placing sentinels on the avenues leading to the town, had selected men from the military corps from a distance, and they not being able to recognize citizens of the county, they were excluded from town lest they might be rescuers.

"The accident which befell the Hon. Green Adams, member of Congress, is thus mentioned by the Richmond Messenger. It will not only prevent his being present at the opening of the session on Monday, but may prove fatal to him."

The Hon. Green Adams, member elect from this district to Congress, who proposed reaching this place on last Monday en route for Washington, was prevented from doing so by an alarming accident. From a private letter we learn that on Saturday night he went to his law office in Barboursville to get some papers which he desired to use, and in groping for his candle and matches he stumbled and fell upon one of the front posts of a chair which had been broken and was sharp pointed. The point penetrated his neck immediately above the collar bone, and his life for a considerable time was utterly despaired of. Eminent physicians from a distance were immediately sent for to all those of Barboursville in his restoration. The last account reports him somewhat better, but far from out of danger.

McCann, Esq., of this county, sold a portion of his farm, which was advertised in this paper a few days ago, containing 200 acres, to Mr. Alexander Bush, of Fayette, at $100 cash an acre. Mr. McCann retains the balance of his farm, amounting to about 250 acres, also improved, and has withdrawn it from sale.—Lexington Observer and Reporter.
